It has been heavily rumored that negotiations have been underway with actor Orlando Bloom to reprise his role as Legolas in The Hobbit. COLLIDER caught up with Bloom during the press day for Sympathy for Delicious and asked him directly about the possibility. Are you going to appear in The Hobbit? Yeah, it's looking like that. I'm really excited about going to see Pete [Jackson] again. It's still a little up in the air, but the idea of working with Pete is fantastic. I can't actually really talk too much about it, at this point. I just was given the script to piece through, so it's quite exciting. The whole script? Yeah! By TwitterButtons.com
