Many thanks to IGN Movies who conducted the interview at the Kapow! Comic Con on Saturday for the following video interview. More The Wolverine Videos "I think he's a great character, and I don't want to go dangerous ground here, but I'd say he's more interesting to me than Batman. I think they've made a very successful run of films with that and I think a good Wolverine film could be an amazing thing." "He's got a sense of humour and he's gruff. And he's kind of pissed off at everyone. I like that." When the interviewer asked the audience in the IGN Arena whether they'd like to see Jones direct The Wolverine, the response was a loud cheer. (which was obviously what I heard when I was standing on the opposite side of the arena in line for the Green Lantern panel!)

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=35018&t=Rumored_Director_Of_iThe_Wolverinei_Duncan_Jones_Shares_His_Thoughts_On_The_Character