

Amy Reeder, who redesigned the Brooklyn Defender beer label for New York Comic Con, has revealed the signage she created to help promote the convention's new zero-tolerance harassment policy. "In addition to designing the Brooklyn Defender this year, NYCC asked me to illustrate something they can use for their anti-harassment signs around the convention floor," [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/09/amy-reeder-creates-signs-for-nyc-comics-new-anti-harassment-policy/>