

The current Batmobile as a simple product design is representative of many aspects of our society. The way any product created for mass production and use is designed tells us a great deal about the manufacturing techniques, natural resources, fashions, aesthetics, politics, values, hopes, and fears of a society. Good fictional product design in films [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2012/07/25/committed-industrial-design-and-the-batmobile/>