

The government of South Korea has a wee problem: Nobody believes them any more, at least when it comes to their account of the sinking of a patrol boat last March. According to polls, over half of South Koreans in their 20s don't buy the official explanation that the boat was sunk by a North [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/09/government-issued-comics-fail-to-convince-skeptical-youth/>