

Last week's post discussed a couple of interrelated topics which I thought deserved a little more attention. One comes out of the idea that there can be a "Superman done right," and the other deals with the development of a concept over time. Both of these are central to any fan of modern corporately-owned superhero [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2011/12/grumpy-old-fan-the-done-right-question/>