

Adam Huber is the creator of Bug, which for my money is the most consistently funny gag comic on the internets, and today he looks back on what he has learned during the first year of his webcomic. His advice is concise and useful for beginning creators: Accept that you're going to make mistakes, switch [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/11/lessons-learned-in-a-year-of-web-comicking/>