

A new survey of American reading habits contains a few surprises — not the least of which is that more people have picked up a graphic novel in the past year than either “chick-lit” or Westerns. The poll, by Harris Interactive, found that among the people who read a book in that period, the numbers [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/10/more-americans-read-graphic-novels-than-chick-lit-and-westerns-apparently/>