

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/09/newspapers-panic-at-mohammed-mention-in-non-sequitur/>

The Daily Cartoonist's Alan Gardner reports that over 20 papers have requested a replacement strip for Wiley Miller's Non Sequitur this Sunday, because of potentially controversial content. It's pretty thin gruel: The cartoon by Wiley Miller depicts a lazy, sunny park scene with the caption, "Picture book title voted least likely to ever find a [...]"