

Before Spider-Man, before the Fantastic Four, before even Captain America, Marvel was creating superheroes. Sure, the publisher went by Timely rather than Marvel, but it had costumed heroes — in spades. Some, like Namor, Ka-Zar and the Human Torch, were dusted off years later as memorable guest stars in other books or for trivial flashback [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/04/six-by-6-six-largely-forgotten-heroes-from-marvels-golden-age/>