

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/11/spider-man-musicals-first-performance-caught-in-web-of-mishaps/>

The good news for producers and hopeful fans of Spider-Man: Turn Off the Dark is that the delay-plagued $65-million musical finally previewed Sunday night on Broadway. The bad, if not unexpected, news is ... things didn't go well. Sure, nobody died, as Vulture so helpfully points out. But the ambitious, technically complex production began 24 [...]