

St. Louis comic store Star Clipper is closing its doors after 27 years. Owners Ben and A.J. Trujillo, who bought the shop in 2001, delivered the news to customers in a message sent this morning. "The personal and professional experience of managing Star Clipper has been the most important of our lives," the wrote. "We [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/01/st-louis-store-star-clipper-to-close-after-27-years/>