

John Hogan has an interesting interview with Adam Johnson, who runs the Stanford Graphic Novel Publishing Program. Every year, the students choose a nonfiction story and divide up into teams to create a graphic novel about it, working in groups to draft, thumbnail, draw, and produce the comic. This year, the students chose the story [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/10/students-create-graphic-novel-about-double-a-bomb-survivor/>