

Zak Sally's Recidivist IV was one of the most difficult comics I've ever read. I don't mean that in an aesthetic or emotional or abstract sense. I mean it was physically difficult to read, as I frequently had to hold the comic at odd angles, or directly up against sunlight to be able to read certain sentences. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/12/zak-sally-talks-recidivist-iv-this-is-where-i-stand/>