

Hugh Jackman is back this weekend in his upcoming film Real Steel. The movie which puts the focus on robot boxing set in the near future is, according to Deadline, heading towards a 20 million dollar weekend with possibilities that it could reach 30. Real Steel is set to beat out George Clooney's new movie The Ides Of March as well as current number one and family friendly film Dolphin Tale. These are very early estimates. But DreamWorks/Disney's Real Steel is dominating the North American box office today and looking at a mid-$20sM weekend if not higher. Hollywood will only be impressed if the result is mid-$30sM because this action pic has a family overlay and its budget was $110+M. Many had written off Real Steel as a film that they were not willing to see, but as time wore on many people, myself included, have changed their opinion about the film and

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=47739&t=BOX OFFICE iReal Steeli Heading For A Mid 20 Million Dollar Weekend