

John Arturo - When did you start collecting and how did you get into the hobby? rescueguitarist - I was born in '87, so the '89 film has always been a part of my life. Batman Begins re-ignited my interest in comics, so I started buying them again when that movie came out. But it really kicked in a little over a year ago when I got a new job and my income started allowing more purchases. John Arturo - It looks like Batman is the focal point of your collection. What makes Batman your favorite character? rescueguitarist - Probably his versatility. In the hands of the proper creative teams he can be this dark film noir type character, over-the-top camp, or he can be made to convincingly beat up Superman. That and he's successfully crossed over into so many mediums, especially in the last 5 years or so. John Arturo - Do you

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/johnarturo/news/?a=51442&t=CBM_Collectors_Collections_-_Blake_Dailey