

The teasers for DC's "Second Wave" of the New 52 continue to come in. This time we get our first glimpse at a redesigned Power Girl and The Huntress as featured in Worlds' Finest #1. Although The Huntress looks fairly similar to different versions we have seen of her in the past, Power Girl, not so much. It certainly looks as though Power Girl will be wearing more clothes than fans are accustomed to seeing her in. It also looks like she may have undergone some sort of reduction procedure since she last graced the pages of a comic book. Worlds Finest #1 hits in May and will be written by Paul Levitz and feature rotating art chores from George Perez and Kevin Maguire. From CBR... The series follows Huntress and Power Girl as they struggle to find their way home to Earth 2 and will connect to James Robinson's "Earth 2"
