

According to MovieWeb The Walking Dead producers are looking to cast Philip Blake, aka The Governor. Fans have long been asking when the villainous character will make his debut on the show and now it looks like we have our answer, as the reports states he will debut in the third season. Producers are looking at John Hawkes for the role, but actor Tom Savini has been actively campaigning for the role. From MobieWeb: While Philip Blake, aka The Governor, is a major player in The Walking Dead comic book series, fans will have to wait until The Walking Dead Season 3 to see him take shape as a living human being. We recently caught up with Sex Machine Tom Savini, who revealed some interesting information about the casting of this important, though yet unseen, character. But, AMC is going after a name, and that name is John Hawkes, seen in Deadwood and Winter's

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=53607&t=THE_WALKING_DEAD_Looking_To_Cast_The_Governor_With_Two_Actors_In_The_Mix