

So is everyone hyped for summer 2013? Good, cause we have a Godzilla-like movie heading our way. Over at the Del Toro forums, the director has taken some time over the past month to answer some questions regarding the film. Below are the most important. First up, my favorite one, about the giant robot designs in the film. I never “bend” a property to fit me. I just fall in love with the stories and give it my everything, so- don’t worry about GOLDEN ARMY Mechas. These are proper robots but they obey our own sensibilities in design. I am not making them gear or steampunky at all but I also don’t want them to be just a “riff” on preexisting designs from Anime or games. Hmm, so no Mechagodzillas sadly. Next most important one, about changes to the script after the recent events in Japan. As far as Japan, Mako Mori (Rinko Kikuchi),
