

It's a big day for Wonder Woman as she celebrates her 75th anniversary and while, it'd have been cool to see a new trailer, we have the next best thing. Director Zack Snyder has shared the first official image of Gal Gadot as the Princess of Themyscira from his upcoming magnum opus Justice League, which is due out in theaters November 2017. The still sees the warrior princess striking a heroic pose with some burning debris in the background and looking ahead at something in the shadows. Check out the shot below:  Plus, in case you missed it, you can watch the full Wonder Woman Q&A with director Patty Jenkins & star Gal Gadot from earlier today below:  And, here are videos from their live Twitter chat:  Hey everyone. We're online. Ask away!! Can't wait to connect. #AskWonderWoman
