

Read more: http://www.mania.com/comixology-launches-guided-view-authoring-tools_article_126435.html

Independent and budding comics and manga creators now have a new path open to them for getting their books to a new audience, one that doesn't have to step inside the traditional comic book store which has long been a barrier. Comixology has set up a new program that will bring their platform and Guided View software to the independents out there...