Over the weekend, some test footage leaked for the Deadpool movie. The footage is rough and not very clear. However, you do get an idea of what they were going for with Rob Liefield's creation. The footage is reportedly shot by Tim Miller, who was originally attached to direct the film. Enjoy it while you can!

Read more: http://www.mania.com/deadpool-footage-leaked_article_140189.html