

Finally an image from Bryan Singer's Twitter to get excited about. The director of X-Men: Days of Future Past has twittered yet another image from the production of the film. Only this time it reveals that of one it's characters has developed his powers to another level. Here is his official tweet: The dark knight rises.

Read more: http://www.mania.com/first-official-look-magento_article_137694.html