

Marvel Studios has two currently untitled releases listed for the 2014 year. One is set to enter theaters on April 4, 2014 while the other project will premiere a month later on May 16, 2014. While the latter has been all but confirmed to be Captain America 2---going by previous interview bits with Chris Evans, the screenwriters and producers---there's been plenty of speculation on what the April release would center on...
