

With MGM wanting to kick-off production on their RoboCop remake sometime this summer, THR is reporting that they've brought in writer Nick Schenk (Gran Torino) to provide the screenplay. Director Jose Padilha has already been charged with the helming duties and with that tentative production schedule in mind, you can expect casting news to heat up over the next few months...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/schenk-penning-robocop_article_132081.html