

Although at least one newspaper editor was quick to apologize for Monday's installment of Bizarro, cartoonist Dan Piraro took a far less conciliatory tone in response to a reader complaint. The one-panel cartoon, titled "Divine Intervention," depicts a trio of angels confronting God with a list of how his behavior affects others, ending with, "... [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/06/bizarro-complaints-draw-two-wildly-different-responses/>