

“Rape is violence. But that’s not all it is. It’s also defilement — having your body violated and desecrated. And it’s an interruption over your agency, your control over your body and your life. On top of all that, rape victims often end up feeling that they were complicit in their own attack (‘I should’ve [...])

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/brandon-seifert-on-why-he-doesnt-write-rape-scenes/>