

Chris Weston doesn't blog that often — the perils of working more and more in a business where your projects are accompanied by non-disclosure agreements — but he recently posted a big update featuring art he's created for his own amusement, some commissions and convention sketches, and some recent 2000AD covers finally seen without intrusive [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/06/chris-weston-reveals-a-jaw-dropping-nosferatu-poster/>