

Awards | The National Cartoonists Society initiated a webcomics award last year, and this year the organization is splitting it in two, one for short-form works and one for long-form. The challenge with including webcomics, says NCS President Tom Richardson, is that to be eligible, creators must make the majority of their money from cartooning. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/01/comics-a-m-national-cartoonists-society-splits-webcomics-award/>