

Legal | Singapore cartoonist Leslie Chew apologized today for four comic strips that were formerly posted on his Facebook page Demon-Cratic Singapore. In a statement released by his lawyers, Chew said, "I accept that (the) comic strips had misrepresented to the public that the Singapore Judiciary administers differential treatment to individuals based on their nationality, [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/comics-a-m-singapore-cartoonist-apologizes-charges-dropped/>