

Last night I got back from London late, exhausted from a 12 hour flight and happy to be home in balmy Los Angeles. Then early this morning I woke up to a panicked client request for help in creating an extremely complex mapping of various types of information they needed to present. While this isn't [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/28/committed-inventing-meaning/>