

DC Comics will expand its digital-first comics line this summer with the debut of Batman '66, a series based on the classic television series. The announcement came last night in Burbank, California, where Warner Bros. Consumer Products launched its Batman Classic Television Series licensing program during an event co-hosted by Junk Food Clothing and Meltdown [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/03/dc-to-launch-digital-first-batman-comic-based-on-classic-tv-show/>