

What a difference a decade makes. New York Comic Con is now North America's biggest comic book convention, attracting a reported 151,000 people to this year's event, and surpassing Comic-Con International, which has been forced to cap attendance at about 130,000. In just eight years, producer ReedPOP has managed to surpass what San Diego organizers [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/10/east-coast-vs-west-coast-nycc-surpasses-sdcc/>