

There's only one problem worse than too much work: not enough. And Frank Cho is trying to juggle an overflowing work schedule while letting off a little steam on his artblog. Cho, who's drawing Marvel's new event X-Men: Battle of the Atom, describes himself as at a "crossroads" in his career. He's been Marvel-exclusive since [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/frank-cho-in-tug-of-war-between-marvel-creator-owned-projects/>