

I'm still kind of flummoxed by Dan DiDio's comments last weekend at Baltimore Comic-Con explaining why Batwoman can't marry her girlfriend Maggie Sawyer. "Heroes shouldn't have happy personal lives," he said at the start of the DC Nation panel, according to several sources. "They are committed to being that person and committed to defending others [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/09/memo-to-didio-superhero-marriages-dont-have-to-be-happy/>