

Neal Adams could use a little help — well, a lot of help: The artist renowned for his work on such titles as Batman and Green Lantern/Green Arrow accidentally left two portfolios of original art in a New York City taxi, and he's trying to get them back. The New York Post reports the books [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/09/neal-adams-searching-for-valuable-artwork-left-in-taxi/>