

My original intention was to file this under "What Could Have Been," but unlike a lot of failed-pitch stories, Neil Kleid's (Brownsville, The Big Kahn) Tapestry appears to be getting a happy ending. The writer unveiled the concept on his blog, where he called it "a work in progress that may never come." He wrote, "Years ago, I had [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/09/neil-kleid-prepares-to-weave-his-tapestry/>