

Monkeybrain Comics announced and released five new titles last month at Comic-Con International, including Phil Hester and Tyler Walpole's Dropout. Hester and Walpole couldn't be at the convention, but were willing to talk with me not only about the new series, but their collaboration in general, including a personal favorite of mine: their 2005 canceled-too-soon series Stronghold. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/phil-hester-and-tyler-walpole-discuss-new-series-dropout/>