

Diana Thung's August Moon, out this week from Top Shelf Productions, brings magical elements into a grittily realistic setting in a way that's reminiscent of the films of Hayao Miyazake. The underlying theme, of outsiders disrupting harmony with the (mostly) unseen spiritual elements of nature, will seem familiar as well. Thung's story is set in [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2012/11/preview-take-a-look-at-diana-thungs-august-moon/>