

“I see a kid superhero like Battling Boy or Aurora West to be symbols of the potential of youth to do something new and different, to invent a new solution to old problems. [...] Too often, I think the superheroes we see in films and comics are too perfect, too established, too impervious to real [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/10/quote-of-the-day-paul-pope-on-the-appeal-of-kid-superheroes/>