

Warner Bros. Television and the co-creators of Smallville have settled a multimillion-dollar dispute concerning profits from the long-running television series. The agreement was announced Monday during a status hearing, but Hollywood Esq. reports no paperwork has been signed. Series creators and executive producers Miles Millar and Alfred Gough and series producers Tollin/Robbins Productions sued WBTV [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/05/warner-bros-smallville-creators-settle-multimillion-dollar-fight/>