

Regardless of whether anyone wants it or not, we are going to get a Batman reboot. It may not happen until after the Justice League movie (if that even gets made) or it may come before, which wouldn't surprise me at all, but it will happen because it's WB's cash cow right now. Personally, I don't want to see Batman in anything but the Justice League movie until at least 2016 and maybe even longer than that, but that isn't likely to be the case. We might as well prepare for it and start hoping for some things to happen with it. Let me just start by saying that I like the Christopher Nolan movies. I really do enjoy them, but his movies really leave out some large elements of the Batman character. Most of these can be chalked up to his "realistic" approach
