However, you have to give the TV division some serious props as well, especially now that they've nabbed Sigourney Weaver as the lead villain in The Defenders. The Aliens star is no doubt going to bring something very special to the table when she squares off with Daredevil, Jessica Jones, Luke Cage, and Iron Fist this time next year. However, while that's a given, what we don't know right now is who she'll end up playing. While the signs all seem to be pointing to The Hand
