was not a good year for Warner Bros. While neither Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice nor Suicide Squad were flops, the former certainly didn't live up to expectations and the critical response to both obviously left a lot to be desired. As a result, all eyes are on Wonder Woman and Justice League to deliver, but it's arguably the latter release which will ultimately make or break the DC Films Universe. We'll just have to wait and see, but regardless of what happens on Rotten Tomatoes and at the box office, we have a long
