

First, let me say that there is a graphic novel prequel for the Al Pacino Scarface which was released in 2007. Yes, I know that the 90's Pacino flick was itself a remake of the 1932 Howard Hughes, Boris Karloff flick. But whatever, damn it! Scarface IS Tony Montana. This is a travesty. Here's what Deadline reported a few moments ago: Universal Pictures is developing a new version of Scarface, the title first released in 1932 and then turned into the iconic 1983 film that starred Al Pacino as Cuban gangster Tony Montana. I'd heard that the studio has been meeting writers to script a take for a film that will be produced by Marc Shmuger and Martin Bregman. Bregman produced the Pacino version. The Reported Synopsis: The film is not intended to be a remake or a sequel. It will take the common elements of the first

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=46806&t=A_Scarface_Remake_In_The_WorksReally_Come_On_Hollywood