

Just what is John Ridley (best known for the screenplay for 12 Years A Slave) developing for ABC? No one seems to know as rumors have swirled for quite some time, attaching him to everything from a series based on Blade's daughter to a show centered around the new Ms. Marvel, Kamala Khan. Whatever the show is, it's still in development at ABC but it sounds as if it's still a long ways off based on comments from ABC President Channing Dungey. When EW asked Channing to update the project's status, Dungey commented, "Yeah, so John is working on a rewrite of that script for Marvel at the moment. We have not seen a new version of it. He's been on production of his show, over in London, and on season 3 of American Crime, so those are the things that have been top of mind for him of late. But I have heard from Marvel that he is working on a revision

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/captain\_marvel/abc-gives-an-update-on-john-ridleys-mysterious-marvel-tv-project-a148069