

Nathan Fillion stars in ABC's popular tv program 'Castle', and will be the titular character in Brian Michael Bendis's comic book adaptation. After three seasons, and countless mysteries solved, Castle and Co. will star in a 122 page epic published by Marvel Comics. Fans can expect more of the same as a murder mystery seems to be the basis for the plot. Hopefully Bendis can manage the quirky behavior that Fillion effortlessly conveys in the weekly program (given his fantastic run on Ultimate Spider-man, and that characters irreverent behavior, he should have no problem). Fans can expect this exciting read to drop in September!!!
