

In chatting exclusively with Comicus, actor & stuntman Troy Brenna, whose portraying a SHIELD Agent & presumably a Frost Giant in Marvel & Kenneth Branagh's epic tale of THOR, speaks on his role, the overall experience, and his director's impressions. On how he joined the cast... "How did I get into Thor's Cast:I was asked to come in as a stunt performer because of my size (6'9", 275lbs). After rehearsing for a couple weeks, I received a call to go in and read for a part in the movie. One week after auditioning for Kale, I got a call from Randi Hiller, the casting director. She told me over the phone that I got the part as Kale." On the time devoted to the movie... "I began working on Thor in October of 09. We continued to do pick up shots and reshoots all the way until just recently, Feb.

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=34137&t=ActorStuntman_Troy_Brenna_Talks_iTHORi_Also_Appearing_In_iThe_Avengersi