

In this edition of the X-Perts series, where fans get to submit their own questions to be answered by the stars of Matthew Vaughn's upcoming 'X-Men: First Class, actor Alejandro Gonzalez talks about his character Riptide, the Hellfire Club, his powers, and how close to the comics the movie adaption stays. Each villain brings something fresh and new to the table. What's unique about Riptide? His unique quality comes from his gift, or his power to control the wind. Riptide's personality is also similar to a tornado's because he starts off calm and elegant, but at a moment's notice, he can get very aggressive and destroy anything in his path. Are Riptide's abilities mirrored to that of the comics (a swirling wind mass with just his head visible) or are they altered for the movie? His powers and abilities in the movie are very true to the comic. Riptide is known for his ability to

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Dustin03Comics/news/?a=35580&t=Alejandro_Gonzalez_Riptide_Talks_IX-Men_First_Classi