

Considering his minor role as "The Other" was connected to the Chitauri and Thanos, whose identities were major secrets up until Marvel's The Avengers anticipated release, actor Alexis Denisof was excluded from the press or any interviews. And now that the film has gone on to become the third-highest grossing of all-time, Denisof took to San Diego Comic-Con, with EW, to finally explain the role and tease his potential future. When questioned about Marvel's The Avengers mid-credits teaser, Denisof explains, "A seed is certainly planted there for all to see. Of course, I can't say much more than that," he teases. "[However] there is a lot of talking going on right now about where it's all gonna go." Clarifying that he's playing "The Other," Denisof says, "I'm the character that sort of sets up the movie in the beginning and I have a scene in the middle with Loki set
